Message from the Chancellor

Her Excellency PAULA-MAE WEEKES, O.R.T.T.

President of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago and Chancellor, UTT

I offer heartiest congratulations to you, Class of 2022 as you celebrate this significant and well-deserved achievement. Graduating from a course of study is not to be sneezed at; it is the result of diligent preparation, study and sacrifice, the high point of your academic journey thus far. At this seminal juncture, you can look back with pride on your investments of time, effort and resources over the years as they have indeed produced a favourable return.

This accomplishment will open doors for many of you to enter the workforce, climb the corporate ladder, pursue further study or explore other exciting ventures. I encourage you to be guided by the skills, ideals and principles gleaned from your university life. As students of Trinidad and Tobago's national University, a reputable, world-class institution, you have been well equipped and prepared for the task ahead.

I share the view of English essayist Joseph Addison who once said, “What sculpture is to a block of marble, education is to the human soul.” Your sojourn at UTT has moulded and shaped you in far more ways than the academic; it has supplied you with a toolkit of perspectives and attitudes with which to view and engage the world. From your coursework and interactions, you have learned the value of diligence, patience, perseverance and teamwork. The depth and breadth of the University's academic and extra-curricular offerings should have broadened your horizons and deepened your understanding and appreciation of the world around you.

At the culmination of this academic journey, you are expected to emerge a more complete, well-adjusted individual, having been exposed to and enriched by a variety of human experiences. Having sharpened your tools and perfected your craft, you are now suitably poised and prepared to unleash your creativity and make your mark in your respective fields. Some of you will make good use of existing opportunities, while others will forge their own paths. In every sphere of endeavour, be sure to remain true to your core values and contribute to the community and country in a productive and meaningful way. Our nation would be all the better for it.

I salute all of you on achieving this momentous milestone and wish you the greatest success for the future.
